At the home of the bride's parents in West Bloomfield, June 27, by Rev. D. E. Blaine, Ellis B. Sayre, M. D. of Allen's Hill to Miss Anna C. Bancroft of West Bloomfield.

From the HISTORY OF ONTARIO COUNTY; compiled by Lewis Cass Aldrich; edited by George S. Conover; 1893;

Dr. Ellis Brooks Sayre, Richmond, was born in Rushville, July 27, 1848. His father, John Sayre, was born in Romulus, Seneca County, in 1814, where he spent his youthful days at school and in the service of his father, Coe B. Sayre. In early life he engaged in business in Penn Yan, became a lawyer, and settled in Rushville, where he married in 1840, Sarah Peabody, who died in 1859. He was a justice of the peace for twenty-five years and justice of sessions one term. Of his seven children three sons were in the army. The last ten years of his life he spent at the home of his son, Dr. Sayre. The latter was educated at the academy and Union school at Rushville, and at Albany Medical College, when it was under the presidency of Dr. Armsby. He practiced in his native village one year, and then came to Allen's Hill where he has since remained and won a large practice. Dr. Sayre married, June 29, 1882, Anna C., daughter of David P. Bancroft of West Bloomfield, and their only child, Grace Peabody, was born August 12, 1883. Responding to the call of his country Dr. Sayre, while yet very young, entered the army as private in the Twenty-sixth NY Independent Battery.
