Suffrage School in Canandaigua

Mrs. Wilson, of New York, a well-known suffrage worker, conducted a "Suffrage School" on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Oscar B. Johnson, Gibson street.

Mrs. Wilson laid great stress on the work of the next six weeks, for this, she said, would be the last opportunity that the men of New York state would have to give their women equal representation, and she would not have them fall behind England, Russia, and even Germany, in this respect.

Mrs. Wilson, who is a clear and interesting speaker, gave explicit instructions as to the way in which the work should be conducted, and thoroughly convinced her hearers of its importance.

'T WAS A VICTORY FOR A CLEANER CANANDAIGUA

The victory achieved by the temperance forces at the special election in Canandaigua this week was foreseen even by the liquor interests. The results of similar contests at recent town elections in different parts of the state, following the verdict rendered by the people in other states and the general tendency manifested by Congress and the State legislatures, afforded unmistakable indications as to which way the wind was blowing and it was safe to conclude that unless Canandaigua was a strange exception it also would vote to cut out the saloons.

The vote of the women, to be registered for the first time on this to them all important question, made, doubly sure the result and doubly impressive the popular verdict. The liquor interests could only hope to win through the apathy of dry voters or through failure of organization on the part of the temperance forces, and neither of these causes was forthcoming. The No-License League, under the lead of its indefatigable and tactful chairman, Mr. Ira N. Croucher, aided by men of long experience in the political game, the pastors of all the city church, and a committee of energetic and capable women, went at the campaign in a business like way, basing its arguments largely on economic and patriotic grounds, and carried it through with a vigilance that never failed.

Credit for the result belongs not only to the League and the workers, men and women, but also to the voters, many of whom for personal or business reasons refrained from declaring their intentions. The returns show that not a few of those who have formerly voted for license stood on this occasion with the dries. Several incidents that illustrated in most striking manner the evil which the city saloons are working in the community pointed a moral that even the bibulous could read. Good citizens perforce agreed that the city could do without booze or the revenue derived from its sale.

It was a hard fight, but free from personal aspersions, and the end finds the voters of both sides, wets as well as dries, recognizing that as law abiding citizens they must accept the verdict of the people in the good verdict of the people in the good American way and cooperate as heretofore for the welfare of the community. which inspired the four splendid Grays which drew the coach to their prettiest steps and helped gather a large crowd of citizens. The ringing of the city and church bells and the firing of the cannon also gave notice that the coach had come to town.

Without leaving their lofty seats on the coach, two members of the party, Frank D. Lyon of Binghamton, former deputy state commissioner of highways, and J. A. Ritchie, of New York city, made brief but ringing speeches arousing the people to their duty in the present crisis, particularly with reference to the buying of Liberty bonds. Mayor Partridge gracefully welcomed the visitors to the city and introduced the speakers.

The party which included a number of ladies took dinner at the Canandaigua hotel and late in the afternoon set out, amid cheers and flag waving, on their way to Geneva and the cities further east.

COOPERATION OF ALL CITIZENS URGED

If there is a man or woman in Canandaigua or its surrounding territory who does not know all about Third Liberty Bonds it is not the fault of our Publicity Committee.

It has been a great satisfaction to the Liberty Loan Committee to see the fine spirit and energetic way in which the city and rural canvassers are pushing the campaign for subscriptions. The activity of the several committees and the responses they receive in their districts is setting a high mark for the city workers.

The co-operation of all citizens with the canvassers is particularly urged. Don't delay. Don't write "later" on your card or withhold your subscription for any reason. Don't make some faithful man or woman who is devoting his or her time to this work whose duty is no greater than yours call at your home or office over and over again before you subscribe.

You should know today as well as tomorrow what you can do. Do it today, and then wear a Liberty button; put an honor flag in your window and help to talk Liberty bonds wherever you go.

Remember that no matter how many Liberty bonds you buy you are doing little compared with the boys at the front, risking life that you, your family and your property may be safe.
